This was the most unique and interesting class that I have ever taken in college. I am usually really shy, but the way the class was structured by Francesca made me feel confident enough to speak in class. I will definitely take more classes with her in the future. I enjoyed learning in depth about reality tv, which is something that isn't discussed enough. A suggestion for future classes would be to give an option for final paper or a final project where the student would create their own mini reality TV series. They could be asked to submit something like 3 7-10 minute episodes with a 5 page summary and "script".

I feel as though there could of been an option to create a reality television show instead of writing a paper! but the class was awesome

This has been one of my favorite classes that Ive taken at UVA. It was incredibly interesting and was something that was relevant to our daily lives. I also liked the format of this class in that it was different than other classes Ive taken. I liked the use of the confessionals to talk about the readings because it was more involved than writing a one page reading response. I also liked screening some reality TV shows because we were able to see our analysis in real applications. As for Francesca she was a great teacher and really made the topics easy to understand. She was very approachable and one of the best teachers I have had at UVA. This class was awesome and I would recommend it to everyone!

Francesca was amazing and this course was really refreshing! Sometimes the concepts were hard to understand, but overall, the atmosphere was open and fun!

I loved this course! It was very engaging and I definitely learned a lot. The A+ challenge was really cool as well. The amount of reading that was assigned was great I just wish the paper at the end was between 9-12 not 12-15 pages. The idea of putting together a reality TV show is cool I think it would need to be in place of the paper. Also the confessionals were a great way to engage with the content.
